Rio Grande Junction Road Will be Opened Sunday.

Midland and Rio Grande Will Put on Through Trains.

Sleeping and Dining Cars Will go to San Francisco.

Many Believe Gould Has Secured the Union Pacific.

Through to the Pacific.

DENVER, November 12.—The Denver & Rio Grande and Colorado Midland managements to-day announce the opening of their broad gauge lines for through business on Sunday, the 16th inst. Arrangements are completed to run through Pullman and tourist sleeping cars between Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Leadville and San Francisco. The lines will be opened with a new and complete equipment, consisting of dining cars, chair cars and day coaches. The Rio Grande's new line passes through the Canon of the Arkansas, Salida, Leadville and Glenwood Springs and Grand Junction. The Colorado Midland passes through Manitou, the famous Ute pass, Leadville, Glenwood Springs, Grand Junction and Salt Lake City, both together passing through the finest scenery in America.

Gould and the Union Pacific.

NEW YORK, November 12.—George Gould refused to talk in regard to his father's having secured control of the Union Pacific. Russell Sage expressed the belief that Gould had obtained control of the road, and said it [illegible] what was needed to straighten out the railroad situation.

BOSTON, November 12. President Adams, of the Union Pacific, in an interview with an Associated Press reporter in regard to the statement published this morning that Jay Gould had secured control of the Union Pacific, said he was absolutely ignorant of the alleged facts and greatly questioned whether Gould ever made the remarks attributed to him. A director of the Union Pacific said he did not believe a word of the story.

NEW YORK, November 12. Gould this afternoon said he had had no interview with Rockefeller or Frederick Ames regarding control of the Union Pacific, but said if he would go among the stockholders he would find much dissatisfaction with the present management. He thought it not unlikely that the stock holders would before long bring about a change in the methods of managing the property which would result in great benefit to the road and American railways generally.

Meeting of the National League.

NEW YORK, November 12.—The annual meeting of the National Base Ball league convened to-day. Delegates are present from New York, Brooklyn, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and Indianapolis. From a talk with National league magnates the impression was received that the Players' league people are virtually dissolved. While the players have appointed committees with the idea of continuing another season, with consolidated clubs of the Players' league and National league in this city, Brooklyn and Pittsburg certainly and Buffalo out of the Players' circuit it is unlikely that the financiers behind the Players' league will attempt to go on with clubs only in Cleveland, Philadelphia, Boston and Cincinnati.

President Young was re-elected. The board then formally awarded the championship to Brooklyn. Subsequently a joint committee on playing rules met and altered sections 1, 2 and 3, of article 5, and section 6, article 48. The three former sections give a club the privilege of having one or all of its surplus men on the players' bench in uniform and allows the substitution of any or all of them at any time during the game. The change in rule 48 does not call for the retirement of a player in running from home to first base on a hit if he goes outside of the three foot limit line while the ball is being fielded to first base, as heretofore. At 12 30 the regular league meeting was called to order.

The Players' League.

PITTSBURG, November 12.—At the session of the Players' league to-day, President McAlpine formally presented the resignation of the New York club. An opinion from Judge Bacon of New York was read to the effect that at the time the agreement was entered into between the New York Players' and League clubs of the same city, it was understood the two leagues were to consolidate, and as this has not yet taken place the agreement would not stand. No action was taken on the resignation. A committee consisting of Ward, Prince and Johnson was appointed to attend the League meeting in session in New York for the purpose of placing the matter of consolidation before them. The committee leave to-night for New York. The Players' club of this city was represented at to-day's meeting and the matter of Pittsburg's resignation laid on the table. Adjourned subject to call of the president.

Knights in General Assembly.

DENVER, November 12.—The general assembly of the Knights of Labor at the morning session to-day was in receipt of congratulations sent in by Mr A. P [illegible] gent, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, from the State Alliance of [illegible], and from the headquarters of the national headquarters at Washington.

The report of the committee on credentials was finally submitted and adopted.

The secretary read a letter from Mrs [illegible] Lake, which expressed regret at the writer's not being able to be present at the meeting of the general assembly.

A committee consisting of W. H. Gal[illegible], of Tacoma, Wash.; Joseph F [illegible]eefer, of Montreal, Canada, and Ralph [illegible], of New York, was appointed by the general master workman to send fraternal congratulations to the Patrons of Husbandry, now in national convention at Atlanta, and, in reply to the congratulations received.

It was decided to hold daily meetings of the assembly from the hours of 9 to 12 in the forenoon and from 2 to 6 in the afternoon until all the work on hand was completed.

A committee from the Bakers' Union waited upon the general assembly and requested that during the session a recommendation should be made to all local assembly requesting the members of the order to patronize union shops.

The report of the general secretary, showing the present financial condition [illegible] of the order and [illegible] funds which had [illegible] hands for the year was read.

Remarks on the [illegible] were made by several delegates, after which a recess till 2 o'clock was taken.

The committee appointed on preparing the various proposed changes in the by laws and constitution submitted their report, which was ordered printed and will be taken up and discussed by sections to-morrow. There seems to be a general feeling that there should be but few changes made in the constitution and there will be but few made. Adjourned until to-morrow.

There has as yet been no [illegible] spoken of as a candidate for grand master workman for the coming two years, but there is a universal feeling that Mr Powderly will be re elected.

General Crook's Last Resting Place.

WASHINGTON, November 12.—The remains of the late Major General George Crook were brought to this city this morning from Oakland, Md and were interred with military honors in the national cemetery at Arlington in the presence of a few long-time friends of the dead general. The casket, which was encased in a pine box enveloped in a huge United States flag, was borne from the Baltimore & Ohio station by six sergeants of artillery and placed in the hearse in waiting. The body has been escorted here from Oakland by General Schofield, General Beck, Colonel H. C. Corbin, Webb S. Hayes, who came from Chicago; Colonel I. H. Stanton who came from Omaha; Captain John G. Bourke and Lieutenants Cannon and Andrews. A small procession, consisting of these gentlemen and of a few other intimate friends of the dead man, was formed and moved slowly through the misty streets to Arlington. At the Virginia end of the aqueduct bridge the procession was met and escorted to the cemetery by company B of the Fourth and company B of the Sixth cavalry, which are now stationed at Ft Myer, but were a part of General Crook's command when he was in charge of the department of Arizona. When the grave which had been dug near the last resting place of General Belknap [illegible] the funeral party gathered around the grave to witness the last sad ceremonies. A cloud of mist obscured the surrounding country, and the silence was only broken by the rattle of falling leaves as the body was lowered into the grave. There was no audible prayer delivered, and the thoughts of none of the little party were given utterance. The soldiers fired three times and the company trumpeter blew "taps," and as the earth was shoveled into the grave the party moved away.

Strengthening the Situation.

BOSTON, November 12.—The news bureau telegraphed Magoun, chairman of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe directors, to report if arrangements were making with the Missouri Pacific to strengthen the railroad situation, and inquiring if any interchange of directors is likely. He replied: "All southwestern lines have agreed to strengthen rates, and efforts are now being made to join all lines west of Chicago and St. Louis, including southwestern, northwestern and all transcontinental lines, on a like basis, namely: a small general committee to control rates. The introduction of many economies is expected to result from a joint or common agreement on competitive arrangements. No interchange of directors is suggested or contemplated."

Meeting of Engineers.

RICHMOND, Va., November 12.—The convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers met to-day at the Exchange hotel. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term: President, Robert W. Hunt, of Chicago; vice presidents, Stephen W. Baldwin, New York; John F. Parkhurst, Cleveland, O.; Alexander Gordon, Hamilton, O.; managers, Andrew Fletcher, New York; W. R. Warner, Cleveland, O.; Coleman Sellers, jr., Philadelphia. The secretary read the report of the committee who attended the joint meeting in Chicago October 12th, which recommended the establishment of headquarters at Chicago, and also recommended the holding of an international congress of engineers during the exposition, to be in session six days, the proceedings to be conducted in English. The report was adopted.

Persecution of Jews.

LONDON, November 12.—The memorial asking the lord mayor to call a meeting to discuss the persecution of the Jews is signed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Cardinal Manning, four dukes, many members of the house of lords and house of commons, and a large number of college professors.

Mr. Gladstone, the bishop of Manchester and the bishop of Durham have sent letters of sympathy to General Booth. Several persons have written letters in response to Manager Bancroft's offer to donate £1000 to promote the philanthropic scheme, provided ninety-nine others donate £1000 each for the same purpose.

A Big Clip.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., November 12.—Wm McIntosh, unquestionably the most successful wool grower in the southwest, arrived here to-day with his wool clip, amounting to 180,000 pounds, packed into sacks and loaded into 63 wagons, drawn by oxen. The caravan paraded through the streets, and it was a great sight, the procession being over a mile long. His wool is from improved merino sheep, and was purchased at the very highest figures by George O'Berne & Co., of Chicago. This is the largest sale of wool ever made by a single person in New Mexico.

The Committee Neutral.

LONDON, November 12.—A meeting of the Emin relief committee was held to-day. It was decided to take no immediate action relative to the charges and counter charges made by members of the expedition. It was also decided to leave to Mrs. Jameson's discretion whether or not she would publish the letter from her husband in relation to the charges against him.

Fight of Police and Soldiers.

GALWAY, November 12.—Several fights took place to-day between the police and military. In one a police sergeant was severely injured. The military was finally routed. The police chased them to their barracks. The Connaught Rangers, who took a prominent part in the disturbance, have been ordered away from Galway.

An Urgent Whip.

LONDON, November 12.—Right Hon Wm Henry Smith, government leader in the house of commons, has issued a circular to supporters urging them to be present at the opening of the approaching session, as their support for matters of the highest importance will then be necessary.

Dead Beside the Track.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., November 12.—The body of James S. Goodwin, cartoonist on Puck, was found beside the railroad track this morning. It is supposed he had been struck by the train.

Regent Appointed.

THE HAGUE, November 12.—Queen Emma has been appointed regent during the illness of King William.

THE FLURRY IN STOCKS

More Buyers Appear in the New York Exchange.

Better Feeling and Some Strength Displayed.

American Stocks Weaker in the London Market.

North River Bank of New York Closes Its Doors.

At the Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, November 12.—When the gong sounded for opening business this morning on the stock exchange, there was a yell and a rush and pandemonium reigned. The galleries were crowded to the utmost capacity by the class which only visits the street in times of great excitement. Richly attired ladies pushed forward for a sight of the struggling brokers, and the most casual observer would have seen it was a time of unwonted excitement.

The market opened stronger than might have been expected, and there was evidently a hopeful view of the situation, despite the fact that early London advices were not very favorable. Trading so far has been simply enormous, especially in Villards and St. Paul. Several thousand shares have been sold under the rule, completing sales begun yesterday, these are all in Villards and St. Paul, and believed to be for the account of Decker, Howell & Co.

Early business was urgent, resulting in further gains of ½ to 1, in which Western Union, Burlington, Union Pacific and some specialties were conspicuous. Villards, and especially Northern Pacific, were conspicuously active and strong, common rising 1½, preferred 2, touching 80½ and 73 respectively. The general list, however, soon yielded to the pressure and influence of further sales under the rule of Northern Pacific, North American, St. Paul and a few others for the account of Decker, Howell & Co.

The downward movement was more pronounced toward the close of the hour, and Burlington dropped 3 and Northwestern 1¼, while Villards lost all advantages and North American retired 1. Fluctuations among the specialties and low priced stocks were extremely wide and irregular, while the entire market was feverish in the extreme throughout the hour.

Later, Villards again showed strength, and the list followed the market. At 11 it was very active and firm to strong, but the general list at the same time was under the first prices, though better than those of last night. At 11.25 Villards continued strong, and was now at the highest figures of the morning—Northern Pacific, common, 20½; preferred, 60½; North American, 20.

Confidence Expressed.

NEW YORK, November 12.—An Associated Press reporter interviewed President F. D. Tappen, of the Gallatin National bank, and a member of the clearing house committee. He says: "Our committee is now in session signing certificates, but indications are that the issue will be very small, probably not more than 5,000,000, against 27,000,000 in 1884. Nothing in the situation, so far as it affects the associated banks, is at all disturbing, and there is not the slightest reason to anticipate any disturbance in the finances of this center. Our action yesterday in deciding to issue certificates was merely precautionary. We did not anticipate any disaster, but believed it the part of wisdom to forestall rather than to have to meet it. We are entirely satisfied that the situation will improve."

It looks now as if the conditions were favorable to a decided improvement. The clearing house sub committee appointed to issue certificates to aid banks, will issue certificates to such as require them. However, there will be no public announcement as to what banks are in trouble. In view of the fact that London is regarded as the main factor of the situation, it may be important to know how much bullion is being shipped from many financial centers to that point. Half a million in silver bars go forward to-day on the steamship Saale. Cable advices state that Russia has sent 2,000,000 francs in gold, and will send 2,000,000 additional.

North River Bank Closed.

NEW YORK, November 12.—The North River bank, at the corner of Dey and Greenwich streets, closed its doors this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, the state bank examiner taking charge of its affairs. The bank is a member of the clearing house, being numbered 58 on the list. It operates under a state charter granted in 1842. It is one of the banks which had to be helped out by the clearing house yesterday. The bank applied again to-day to the clearing house for a loan, and a committee was on the way to examine into the condition of the institution when it was learned it was in the hands of the bank examiner.

Last week the clearing house circular showed the North River bank as having a capital of $240,000, a surplus of $118,-700, loans, $2,000,013, deposits, $1,975,-000, and cash on hand $270,000. The cause of the present difficulty is simply tight money. On account of the mention of the North River bank as one of the defaulters at the clearing house yesterday, depositors started a quiet but steady run on it this morning. The bank stood out until 2.30 when its ready money was exhausted and it had to close its doors. It did an average business of $3,000,000. The president of the institution is E. E. Gedney, the vice president Joseph Brokawa, and the cashier is F. R. Ingersoll. Among the directors are W. E. Tefft, of Tefft Weber & Co., John H. Starin and C. C. Worthington.

To Protect Villard's Stocks.

NEW YORK, November 12.—Wall street, 11.30 a m.—A circular was issued last night to the stockholders of the North American railroad to meet this morning to discuss the situation. The meeting is now in session. There are rumors of the formation of a German syndicate to protect Villard's stocks.

The London Exchange.

LONDON, November 12.—On the stock exchange at 12.30 p. m. prices for consols for both, money and account, compared with yesterday's closing prices, show an advance of ⅛. Canadian Pacific ½. Illinois Central ½. St. Paul, common, ½.

At 12 45 the market was quieter; American securities have fallen since the opening, but other securities are firmer. Consols have fallen ⅛ and the entire market is weaker, especially for American securities.

1 30 p m.—Market still very weak; it is rumored a financial house is in trouble.

A Relief Measure.

WASHINGTON, November 12.—The secretary of the treasury has authorized the assistant treasurer at San Francisco to receive deposits of funds from bankers desiring to transfer the same by telegraph to the assistant treasurer at New York. This is done to enable persons in New York having funds in San Francisco, not needed there, to transfer them for immediate use in New York. The department will accord the privilege to others cities where there are sub treasuries, should it act as a means of affording relief at the present time.

Failures of Brokers.

PHILADELPHIA, November 12.—The firm of Farr & Friend say they will resume business to-morrow.

NEW YORK, November 12.—Members of the brokerage firm of C. M. Whitney & Co., which assigned yesterday, filed separate assignments this morning.

12.30 p m.—J. C. Walcott & Co., 38 Pine street, have just announced their suspension on the stock exchange. The house was generally considered solid. It is not believed the failure will have any effect on the market.

Stock Quotations.

NEW YORK, November 12.—Money on call strong, ranging from 3 to 5 per cent, last loan 6, closed at 6, prime mercantile paper 6 to 8, sterling exchange quiet and steady, 4 79½ for 60 day bills and 4 85 for demand.

History of the Rear Guard.

LONDON, November 12.—Stanley has placed at the disposal of the Times all the documents connected with the rear guard, including Bonny's original report and the officers' log book. The Times will begin the publication of the papers to-morrow.

Mrs. Jameson writes to the Times that her husband did witness an act of cannibalism, but that he made no sketches at the time and that he did not buy the victim. Of this, she says, there is authoritative attested evidence. As the incident happened fifty miles from Yambuya, she adds, it has no bearing whatever on the management of the rear guard.

Stanley's secretary, Wilson, writes confirming the statement that he witnessed Assad Affran's affidavit relative to the Jameson affair.

Express and Lotteries.

NEW YORK, November 12.—The board of managers of the Adams Express company to-day held their first meeting since the passage of the United States anti-lottery act. The board were unanimously of the opinion that the provisions of such law were as morally obligatory upon the company as they are legally binding upon the postal authorities. The attention of the board was called to the fact that the postoffice department had issued regulations to all its subordinates as to the manner in which they should effectuate the provisions and intent of the act. The board adopted a resolution making such regulations applicable to the employes of the company in like manner as if such employes had been specifically mentioned therein.

Smokeless Powder.

WASHINGTON, November 12. General S. V. Benet, chief of the bureau of ordnance, has submitted his annual report to the secretary of war. From the report it appears that the bureau has expended during the last fiscal year $4,399,[illegible]; leaving credit to the bureau of June 30th, 1890, of $3,994,434. On the subject of smokeless powder General Benet says: During the past year extensive experiments have been carried on with smokeless powder in field guns and guns of large calibre, as well as in small arms. But though some astonishing results have been obtained the attendant difficulties have been many, and it cannot yet be said with certainty that the new explosives will eventually supersede the present powders.

Scalpers' Tickets Good.

ST. PAUL, November 12.—Judge Vanderburg, of the supreme court, has handed down a decision which settles the question of the validity of railroad ticket purchases of ticket brokers and scalpers and affirms liability of the railroad company to accept such ticket when offered by an innocent purchaser. The decision grows out of a suit against the Northern Pacific involving these points.

The Honduras Revolution.

WASHINGTON, November 12.—A telegram dated Guatemala City has been received from Misner, United States minister to Central America, stating that a revolution is in progress in the capital of Honduras. The president of the republic was driven from the city, but is collecting troops and is expected to make a fight for the recapture of the government.

James N. Garlile, state treasurer elect, has an extra good opportunity to gain reputation and honor. It is to be hoped that he will improve it.

Another Chicago man has invented an air ship. Chicago will never be satisfied. After wanting the earth for years and annexing a good share of it, they now find they have no use for it.

It is not known that Stanley's present trouble was fixed up for advertising purposes, but it comes in very opportunely. It takes considerable financiering to sell lecture tickets at $25 apiece.

It is rumored that the Mormons of Utah will offer the republican party three electoral votes in exchange for statehood. The republicans have too much sense and patriotism to accept such an offer.

A so called scientist of some note claims to have discovered that mountains are influenced by climate, the highest ones being in the warmer zones. It is strange how anxious some people are to display their ignorance.

The financial trouble in New York seems to be increasing and it may assume still larger proportions before reaction sets in. No widespread danger need, however, be apprehended. The trouble is largely sympathetic from European causes and New York will suffer more than the rest of the country.

The frequent crimes which have been committed during the past few days would almost lead one to think that the criminal classes were more afraid of the county jail than of the penitentiary. They seem to have restrained their vicious instincts until the grand jury could find a bill against them without delay.

The completion of the Rio Grande Junction railway is announced for next Sunday. This is an important event not only for Grand Junction, but for the whole state. Colorado Springs will come in for a full share of the benefits. It will place us on the shortest and most direct road across the continent, and will bring to this city many visitors who would otherwise have passed to the north or south of us.

The defeat of the constitutional amendments may perhaps be attributed to the clause giving the general assembly power to fix the compensation of judges of the supreme court. We know it to be a fact that in one country precinct a little company of voters were reading the amendments. They did not understand them very well, but as soon as they came to the words "general assembly," one of them said: "If the general assembly has anything to do with it we want to vote against it!" And so they did.

Among the offenses which would seem to offer an excuse for a whipping post, if anything could excuse that barbarous punishment is malicious mischief for the sake of getting into jail. Where work and food are scarce, there is some excuse for the offense, and such an incident has illustrated the supreme misery of more than one great city. But in Colorado there is work enough and food enough for all who can work, and pity and charity for those who cannot. That anyone should prefer the confinement and enforced idleness of a prison to healthful and honest work out of doors is a sad commentary on human nature. It is also a weighty argument in favor of enforced and hard work as a punishment for crime. Idleness in any man or boy, be he millionaire or pauper, is a most fruitful source of crime. "He who does not work, shall not eat!" should be a law enforced in prison as well as out of it. Society could teach any criminal no better lesson than that of regular hard work, and there should be enough of it so that no one who is too lazy or too dissipated to earn a living should go breaking windows in order to get food and lodging for the winter.

In the dispute between Stanley and his lieutenants in regard to the causes which led to the destruction of the rear guard and the killing of Major Bartellot, Stanley seems so far to have the advantage. He has met the accusations made against him in a frank and open manner, and the counter charges which he brings seem reasonable and supported by good evidence. Stanley enjoys the considerable advantage of having been the leader in command at a time when the commander was necessarily supreme and answerable to no one. Like a ship captain in mid-ocean, his will was law, and his lieutenants were bound principally to execute his orders. The ordinary conditions of civilized life do not exist in central Africa among savages on an expedition of this kind. Both by character and experience Stanley was better qualified to know what could be done and what should be done than anyone else. Enough is known of the ill-fated rear guard to show that Stanley's orders were not obeyed and that no serious effort was made to obey them. It is known that Major Bartellot was furiously cruel in his treatment of his dependents and that the subordinate officers made no attempts to restrain him from conduct for which he was very likely not morally responsible. Under these circumstances it will take more than indefinite charges of lack of judgment, made by the friends of Bartellot or the subordinate officers, to detract materially from the reputation which Stanley has gained.

HISTORIAN GEORGE BANCROFT.

Reminiscences Suggested by His Retiring from Active Work.

[Special Cor. ——]

New York, Nov. 10.—The announcement has recently been made by George Bancroft that he has written his last word for publication. Thus the wonderful literary career of this eminent American closes with his ninetieth year. Mr. Bancroft some years ago determined that if his life should be spared until his ninetieth year he would at that time end literary endeavors which have taken the greater part of this century.

Although Mr. Bancroft's great work is called the "History of the United States," yet it is in one sense no history of the United States. It is a history of those circumstances, conflicts, tendencies and agitations which led to the revolt of the colonies from the mother country, and to the establishment, first of the confederation of states, and later on to the Union under the constitution as it now stands. The history of the United States as such has not been told except in piecemeal, or in the rapid sketching which two or three writers have written and published under the name of United States history. Mr. Bancroft has laid the foundation, and it will be comparatively easy for the historian who is yet to come to tell the story of the United States in the first century of their existence as a nation.

Mr. Bancroft has been more than fifty years in writing this history. He began it when he was still a young man, and while he was engaged not only in literary but in political activity. It is a work of almost incredible labor, sometimes a single page of it involving investigations of many months both here and in Europe. It was so colossal in its purpose that for years Mr. Bancroft has carried it on at great expense and with a large number of assistants. At one time he had as many as twenty clerks employed in arranging, sifting and confirming data. It would have been impossible for him unaided to have produced even in fifty years a work of this kind.

Mr. Bancroft, it is not so well known, was at one time in his career quite active as a politician and statesman. He is the sole survivor of the administration of President James K. Polk, and no other cabinet officer of any earlier period survives. Therefore Mr. Bancroft's experience dates farther back than that of any man now living who has ever held a cabinet office. He was a contemporary of Daniel Webster, Henry Clay and John C. Calhoun, was an intimate friend of President Pierce and was on terms of the closest friendship with a literary celebrity of another day, James K. Paulding, who was also a cabinet officer. Mr. Bancroft also has served as the minister of the United States at the German court, and he was on the threshold of old age when he retired from active politics thirty years ago.

That he should have retained his mental faculties unimpaired and his physical strength surprisingly sustained up to the age of 90 he ascribes to three or four simple rules of life which he adopted. One was regularity in his work. He always worked a certain number of hours in the morning, and he let no day pass without producing at least a line. With regularity of literary work there was also method in his other habits. In the second place he has never failed to take a certain amount of exercise in the fresh air every day. Up to a few years ago he spent two or three hours in the afternoon, rain or shine, in horseback riding, and he allowed his horse to go at no dilatory gait; but a fall which he had some few years ago warned him that it was no longer safe for him to trust himself to the saddle, and he has therefore taken his outdoor exercise by daily walks, always accompanied by his faithful valet.

His third reason for the long life which has been granted him is the mental relaxation which he has insisted upon. This for many years he found in the cultivation of roses, and even in his narrow little garden in Washington he was able to grow some of the most exquisite specimens of roses to be found in any country. At his summer place in Newport he had a still larger collection, and his knowledge of the varieties of roses and success in developing new ones gave him as great a reputation among horticulturists as he had before gained among literary men and statesmen. These three rules combined with training, which always preserved an equable temper and which permitted no annoyance or vexation to ruffle in the slightest degree his nerves, he believes account for his long and vigorous life. He is also a believer in heredity, and thinks that the long life of his ancestors, most of whom died at advanced age, also accounts for his own heritage of years.

Mr. Bancroft's old age is a charm to his friends and a comfort to himself, and he has been permitted to live long enough to get the judgment of the nation upon his great achievement, the "History of the United States." That is something which rarely happens to an author who undertakes so colossal a work.

E. J. EDWARDS.

Notes from New York.

New York, Nov. 10.—Strangers in New York who want to see as much as possible in a short time usually take a trip over the elevated roads, and few of them fail to note what seems to them a glaring inconsistency. All along the line from the Battery to the Harlem river they are confronted by innumerable signs of apartments to let, and yet they see all over the city new apartment houses and flat buildings springing up as though people were compelled to sleep in the streets until they were completed. Why, they naturally ask, with so many old apartments vacant is there such a rush to build new ones? It is a fact well known to builders that only a small percentage of the city apartments are paying fair interest on the investments, but it is equally well known to them that at the rate the population is increasing it will be only a few years before every habitation on Manhattan island will have its occupants the year round. No one engaged in daily business in this city who has the means to live there comfortably will seek a residence outside, except, perhaps, during the summer months. The most modern apartment of the better class is a very comfortable place to live in. Taxes are heavy on real estate, and the knowledge that a new apartment house will even now much more than pay taxes on the ground it occupies is enough to keep up this building boom.

New York city has now a famous observatory—a point of view from which every detail of the city itself and its environments of rivers, bay and islands is presented in a single grand panorama. This is the iron balcony surrounding the cupola of the Pulitzer building. This balcony is a little higher than the top of Trinity church spire, and a long way above every other available point of observation. An iron rail, breast high, encircles the balcony, and renders it a perfectly safe promenade for any one whose nerves are not affected by the tremendous height.

CURTIS DUNHAM.

Found in the Past.

Fitchburg, Mass., November 12.—Christopher Copeland, formerly of this city, but recently of Denver, Colo., was arrested here last night by Deputy Sheriff Stone, of Denver, for the embezzlement of $1200 from the Western Union Telegraph company's Denver office. The officer started for Denver this morning with his prisoner.

A New York Fire

New York, November 12. Two alarms have been turned in for a large fire in the building next to the United States hotel, on Pearl street. Six ambulances have been summoned.

Repulsive Truth.

From the Gallery and ——

The Russian painter Nicolai, a follower of Count Tolstoi, is at present exhibiting in Berlin a remarkable picture called "What is Truth?" It represents Christ before Pilate at the moment when Pilate asked Christ the above question. The picture, which is causing great sensation, is of an ultra-realistic type, and represents Christ as he may be supposed to have looked at that moment. The Saviour's clothes are dirty and torn, his hair dishevelled, and his whole appearance suggestive of the struggle he has been going through. Several ladies have, it is stated, already fainted after looking at the picture.

Yesterday morning one of the cases against Charles M. Lowe was set for trial on November 20 at 9 a. m.

The grand jury returned another bill against Elmer Besse for grand larceny. They also found a true bill against George Copeland, Wm. Garber and R. F. Andrews for assault with intent to kill.

The People vs. Elmer Besse, larceny of cattle. Mr. Artz, for defendant, moved to quash the indictment which was denied. The case was then tried, occupying the forenoon.

The next case taken up was that of Jerry Thompson, charged with attempt to rape and rob. The prosecuting witness was an Arabian woman, whose testimony was taken through an interpreter. The case did not go to the jury until after the intermission.

In the case of Struble vs. Struble, Messrs. Lewis and Cochran, counsel for the plaintiff, withdrew from the case.

In the afternoon the first business was the arraignment of George Copeland, Wm. Garber and R. F. Andrews on an indictment for assault with intent to kill. They plead not guilty, and the trial was set for the 21st inst., at 9 o'clock.

The Thompson case was concluded and the jury retired.

At 4 o'clock the jury in the Besse case returned with a verdict of guilty. Mr. Artz gave notice of a motion for new trial, and the defendant was remanded for sentence.

The grand jury reported a true bill against James Murphy, the man who broke a window on Tejon street on Tuesday. One "not a true bill" was returned.

In the case of the People vs. W. S. Cole and J. S. Johnson, Mr. Nicholas, an attorney from Pueblo, appeared for the defendants and stated that they desired to plead guilty to petit larceny. The district attorney accepted the plea and the defendants were remanded for sentence.

Just before supper the trial of B. W. Osborne, charged with the larceny of a horse from the El Paso Livery company, was commenced, Mr. John Cochran prosecuting, and Mr. Wm. Mitchell, of Pueblo, and Ed Hanna defending.

The Thompson jury found the defendant guilty on both counts of the indictment. Mr. Kinsley gave notice of a motion for new trial, and the defendant was remanded.

The People vs. Elmer Besse. Defendant arraigned on the indictment found yesterday morning and plead not guilty.

The People vs. James Murphy. Malicious mischief. Defendant arraigned and pleads not guilty. Mr. Kinsley appointed to defend.

A recess was taken until 7 o'clock, at which time the Osborne case was submitted to the jury.

The People vs. Elmer Carlyle. Defendant changes his plea to guilty as to larceny. The district attorney nolles the counts of the indictment charging burglary. Defendant remanded for sentence.

Late in the evening the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and the defendant was discharged.

Court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

Carlton Opera Company.

The musical event of the season will be the appearance of Carlton's Opera company at the opera house next Monday evening in the popular comic opera success "The Brigands." A glance over the list of the members of the company will show that Mr. Carlton is unusually well equipped in respect to leading singers. Besides Mr. Carlton, the three comic opera artists that are the greatest of all comic opera favorites are J. M. Murray, Clara Lane and Jeannie Winston. Besides these, there are such artists as Harriet Avery, Clara Wisdom, Marian Langdon, Jennie Millard, Claire de Shorb, Charles A. Bigelow, a new comedian, who was with Mr. Carlton last season and who is said by the eastern critics to be the peer of Francis Wilson, as a funmaker and good singer; Harold Blake, Ralph de Mesa, Dushone Clamard, Walter West, Miles Parker and a splendid, large chorus.

Camp ... Woodmen Installed.

The new camp of Woodmen was last evening duly installed by Head Consul Falkenburg. It was christened Colorado Springs camp. The complete list of officers is as follows: J. M. Sellers, venerable consul; H. E. Bassett, worthy advisor; W. A. Davis, excellent banker; Jas. D. Duncan, worthy clerk; G. E. Clark, worthy escort; Lorenzo M. Johnson, worthy watchman; John D. O'Haire, worthy sentry, Dr. D. R. Rice, medical examiner; J. M. Sellers, delegate to head camp; Jas. D. Duncan, alternate; Dr. Wm. K. Sinton, manager one year; Wm. E. McLain, manager two years; A. H. Corman, manager three years.

This camp starts with a membership of over forty. It was decided to meet in Odd Fellows hall every second and fourth Monday of each month. Deputy Head Consul Browning preferred to have the charter of this camp closed at once in order that the members may be placed in full control of its affairs and its future and the charter was therefore closed, and any one wishing to join must apply to a member of the camp.

In connection with Woodmen affairs Head Consul Falkenburg was seen last evening and asked if the apparent trouble in the head camp now in session at Springfield, Ills., will affect this jurisdiction. "No," said Mr. Falkenburg, "this is a separate jurisdiction and we have nothing to do with their financial matters. Our death losses throughout this state and the entire northwest are paid through our head office in Denver. We stand ready to officiate with the sovereign of grand head camp fraternally when that jurisdiction gets around to it. Kansas, Nebraska and Wisconsin at their action of their head camp at Springfield will probably do as Colorado has done and organize their separate jurisdictions as we have done. The ... of that jurisdiction are loyal to the order but are tired of being dominated by the Illinois membership. Neighbor Root has evidently been vindicated of the charges preferred against him by his ... but I do not believe he will be re-elected head consul of their jurisdiction at this session. I think they will make a clean sweep ... and ... new men to all offices which will ... harmonize all differences in ... jurisdiction."

... A. H. Resolutions.

Colorado Springs post Grand Army of the Republic, at its meeting Friday evening, passed the following resolutions in memory of the late A. H. Corman, member of the post:

Resolved, That in the death of our comrade, A. H. Corman, who has gone to the grand encampment above to dwell forever upon the eternal camping ground with all the patriot throng gone before, this post has lost its senior member, whose example of self-denial, and patriotic devotion to this order has been a constant example to its junior members.

Resolved, That we will ever cherish his memory and profit by his example and gladly, when our country shall dispense with our further services, join him upon the fields of eternal glory.

Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathies of the members of this post are extended to his son, our comrade commander, and his family, in their sorrow and grief.

Miss Neally Stevens will be heard in grand concert at the opera house this evening. Of the eminent pianist the Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is rarely one has the satisfaction to hear a piano recital by a woman equal in scope, power of interpretation, and beauty of finish, to that of last evening, given by Miss Stevens. She is singularly free from mannerisms, and has no unpleasant affectations, and devotes her attention to her work with an earnestness and sincerity of purpose that please no less than they benefit."

Something of a sensation was created in the district court yesterday morning by the attorneys of a plaintiff in a prominent divorce suit withdrawing from the case in open court. One of the attorneys in the case was asked for a reason for such action and stated that they had advised their client to no longer continue an acquaintance with a certain person, that it had been shown them that the client had not followed their advice and hence their action.

A very pleasant entertainment was given by the young people of the Christian church last night for the benefit of the building fund. The special features of the evening were some very laughable shadow pantomimes and some humorous recitations by Miss Inez Field. Everything passed off smoothly under Miss Field's management, although many of the participants were quite young children.

The will of the late A. E. Touzalin was filed for probate in the county court yesterday.

MANITOU SPRINGS.

Mr. C. M. Barker has found it necessary to build an addition on the rear of the Barker, and the builders are already at work upon it.

The ladies of the Episcopal church will hold a "cobweb" social in the rooms over the postoffice Friday evening. Refreshments will be served.

D. J. Redmond, who has been in trouble before for beating his wife, is again under bonds for smashing the crockery and disturbing the quiet in his home.

The Pike's Peak cog road is nearly ready to suspend work until spring. There are still a construction train and a gang of laborers at work surfacing above the Halfway house, but they are working in from eight inches to a foot of snow, and as soon as the work they are now on is done the road will be left for the winter.

The Manitou Mineral Water company is remodeling the old Iron Springs company's office building just back of the Ute spring pavilion and will place a bottling works in it. The Little Chief spring in the yard of the Pike's Peak railway has been cleaned out and fixed over so that its flow is about treble, and a pipe has been laid to take the water down to the other spring where it will be bottled.

The tourists are still quite numerous on the streets and around the points of interest, and with the many permanent residents that the town has now it is very far from being as dead as are most resorts during the cold months. The extensive building operations which were a feature of last winter are not present this year, yet the owners of the cottages erected during the year are largely engaged in having their grounds graded or terraced with the necessary stone work, so that the Manitou of next summer will have a more finished appearance than the Manitou of 1890. Every care is being taken with the parks, so that they may present an unbroken surface of green. In brief, the resort has progressed beyond the building into the age of solid prosperity in which the residents find more time to beautify their homes and their city.

A social was held at the A. M. E. church last night, and during the evening two young colored men got into a row. Knives and pistols were drawn but no one was injured. The social was broken up completely, but the two men escaped and the police had not been able to secure them at a late hour last night.

At the request of a number of persons it is proposed to organize a class for special work in botany, to be under the instruction of Miss Mann, who has charge of the department of biology and botany in Colorado college. They anticipate a large attendance, and expect the pretty things and good things will all be disposed of at the close of the evening.

The attraction at the opera house Friday evening will be the popular actor, Mr. Newton Beers, in the beautiful play "Enoch Arden." He will appear Saturday evening. The Chicago Herald thus speaks of the play at Hooley's: "Thousands on thousands of people have within the past ten nights wondered at the grand scenic illusions of 'Enoch Arden.' While their hearts throbbed with sympathy for Enoch and Annie in their years of sorrow and unhappiness, their minds were as deeply impressed with the gorgeous scenery with which the play is mounted. With bated breath they watched the black clouds, the vivid flashes of lightning, and heard the crashing thunder peals during the scene of the wreck of the Good Fortune; they noted the beauties of the vision scene in Annie's humble cottage, where Enoch Arden was revealed in his solitude of the South sea island; they admired the beautiful setting of the scene where the lonely sailor is keeping his lonely watch for the appearance of a friendly sail."

Another bold hold up occurred between this city and Colorado City Tuesday night which had for its victim Mr. David Reese, a saloon keeper of the latter town, who lives in West Colorado Springs. He left his place of business with the barkeeper a little after 1 o'clock, put his money in the safe, armed himself with a revolver, and started out to walk home. In front of Mr. A. G. Sheldon's residence he was accosted by two negroes, and before he could perceive what they were about they threw him to the ground and took his hat, coat, revolver and the key to his saloon, after which they let him go. He came to this city at once and informed the police. Yesterday morning, in company with Officer Shelby, he visited the African quarter of the town and found no trouble in identifying Ben Wright and John McFall as his assailants. Soon after they had been brought to the city jail Reese's revolver was found in an alley through which they had come, and it is supposed that Wright dropped it there so it would not [illegible] against him when he was searched. In his room was found the stolen key. McFall had Reese's hat on when he was arrested. Both men will be brought before the grand jury, and probably will go to Canon City at the end of this term of court. Their prompt capture is due to the careful work of Officer Shelby and the result is due him for it.

THE McKINLEY BILL REPEALED.

As it is now conceded on all sides that the McKinley bill will be repealed at the next session of Congress, I have concluded to take time by the forelock and knock all the tariff out of my goods that the McKinley bill or any other bill ever put on them and will now invite the public to call in and see how well I have succeeded. I am confident I can give you lower prices than have ever been offered in this market for good and reliable goods.
